

MEYER TALKED ON THE RATES

Member Of The State Railway Commission
Discusses Wisconsin's Public Utility Rates.

BELIEVES IN RULE BY COMMISSION

"Going" Value Of Any Public Utility Is The Greatest Problem Which Confronts The State Board
At The Present Time.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 19.—(Special.)—In an address on the "Wisconsin Public Utility Law" before the National Municipal League today, Prof. H. H. Meyer, chairman of the railroad rate commission of Wisconsin, declared "the extent of the discriminations in the rates and service of utilities may be almost beyond comprehension."

"The whole state of Wisconsin was literally streaked and plastered with discriminations," he added, "and in all the rest of the country where the extent of such discriminations have not been determined, as they have in Wisconsin, it is quite probable that discrimination similar in character and extent likewise exist."

Attorney General Charles J. Doniphan is the president of this organization and the invitation was extended to Prof. Meyer to give this address on the success of the Wisconsin law, because so many states are considering the passage of similar laws during the coming sessions of the various state legislatures. In opening his address Prof. Meyer said that the railroad commission was vested at the 1907 session of the legislature with the power to regulate, light, heat, water, power and telephone companies and that the general legal and administrative principles which underlie the railroad commission law also underlie the public utilities law. He spoke of the methods of valuation, adding the great problem before the commission at the present time is to determine whether in fixing a valuation, as the basis for rate making, the companies should be allowed an additional value for "going values" and "good will."

"Problem Before Board,"
"Since the Wisconsin commission has not yet formally declared an official opinion with respect to these intangible items of value," he explained, "it will not be possible to discuss these topics in greater detail or at greater length at this time. The commission has not yet made up its mind."

Prof. Meyer then reverted to a discussion of the uniform system of accounting for all of the utilities to be used in the state, saying under this plan it will be possible to see from year to year exactly what the financial condition of any particular plant is. He added that under this system private and municipal plants can be compared, illustrating the parallel system of accounts by reference to waterworks investigations.

"In eight Wisconsin cities of over 5,000 population, the municipal waterworks accounts show that there is no credit given for public service," declared Prof. Meyer, "four of these showing a deficit for the year which in three cases would very likely disappear and show a surplus, if the plant were credited with revenues, which justify it to it."

For Uniform Accounts.
"Out of fifteen municipal water plants in cities under 5,000 population, thirty-three reported a deficit for the last fiscal year. Of this total number, twenty-two cities did not credit the plant with any earnings for public service and of these twenty-five city plants, twenty-two showed a deficit. Twenty-eight municipal water plants showed no general expense whatever, such service being furnished by other city employees. Under the proper separation of accounts and the adoption of a uniform system, an entirely different situation, just to the city and to the plant management, will be revealed."

The method of rate making, the standards of service fixed by the commission and the appeals made from the board's rulings to the courts, were then discussed by Prof. Meyer. He told of the recent Wisconsin supreme court decision interpreting the law, declaring so far as he knew, "this decision is practically alone in this country in the breadth of the views expressed with respect to the regulation of public utilities and the extent of the support it gives to the administrative authority charged with that regulation."

Roll of Rebates.
In further explanation of the practical working of the law he said that the commission acted as a clearing house furnishing the utilities all available information relating to every branch of the service. Discussing the beneficial results he declared that the law takes the utilities out of politics, eliminates feuds and raises the level of public morality. It was in the latter connection that Prof. Meyer told of the enormous discriminations in Wisconsin, illustrating his argument with a table, which exhibited a list of names, figures in length showing the number of discriminations in one plant alone. "Thousands of individuals had been receiving free and reduced rate service, and the eradication of all such rates cannot but serve as a moral tonic and raise the level of private and public morality within the state as a whole. For thirty-two of the reporting telephone companies, eight out of every 100 subscribers received free or reduced rate service."

Disc to Speculation.
In concluding his address Prof. Meyer declared that the utilities law is working a revolution in business management, that the uniform accounting, rules governing the service and the regulation of rates "compels the adoption of business and scientific methods which is resulting in nothing short of a revolution in management."

"All of the effects of the law, taken collectively, are bound to place investments in public utility enterprises on a more stable foundation," he said in summarizing his argument. "The law works both ways. On the one hand it protects the consumer against unjust and unreasonable rates and poor service, and on the other hand it protects the investor in his claim to a reasonable rate on the property, which is devoted to public use. This legislation will probably remove public utility investments very greatly, if not entirely, from the field of speculation and place them in the class of conservative, certain and stable investments."

outcome was that the engineers recommended that Superior get all the water asked for her entry while Duluth had to wait.

Work with Congress.
The committee will again endeavor to get Duluth's program for protection at that end of the harbor put through. Other expenditures in the way of dredging channels are also desired and it is probable an effort will be made to extend channels in the direction of the steel trust's site up the St. Louis river.

Carried Cook County on the Official Count Just Finished.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—The completed official canvass of the vote of Cook county (Chicago) for governor gives Deane 246 plurality against a thousand for Stevenson given him by the police returns.

Goos Back to Reformatory: On complaint of S. C. Burnham, transit officer, the police have taken Earl Woodcock into custody and he will be sent back to the reformatory where he was committed some years ago for theft of a watch and a small sum of money. The boy has been out on parole but has not only failed to attend school regularly but has also persuaded other youngsters to stay away.

Marriage Licenses: Marriage licenses have been issued to Gertrude Fitzpatrick and John P. Smith of Janesville, to Mary Duggan and James Callahan of Beloit, to Inga M. Ringen of Spring Valley and Merrill S. Fowler of Deaneville, Wis., and to Walecka Erbrand and Earl E. Gerald of Janesville.

"My son, this queer bit of steel road is the last remaining specimen of its kind left in our country. Our forefathers used it to run their cumbersome railroad trains over." In ten years ships will be as common as autos now.—News Item.

CENTRAL ELECTRIC RAILWAY MEETING

Officials of Interurban Lines in Ohio and Indiana to Discuss Handling Mail.

Indianapolis, O., Nov. 19.—The annual meeting of the Central Electric Railway association, embracing the principal interurban lines of Ohio, Indiana and neighboring states, was held here today. The possibilities of the electric lines handling United States mail in competition with the steam roads was one of the principal topics discussed. The effects of the recent depression on the earnings of the interurban lines was another matter that received attention.

NAVAL ARCHITECTS DISCUSS CRITICISM

Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers Meet in New York.

New York, Nov. 19.—Recent criticism of the design and construction of the big warships now building for the U. S. navy will be thoroughly thrashed out at the meeting of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, which began its sessions in the Engineering Societies building in West Thirty-Ninth street today. The society embraces in its membership practically all of the naval architects and constructors of any prominence in this country. The meeting will continue over tomorrow and will close tomorrow night with a banquet at Delmonico's.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR PRISON CONGRESS THE BIG CORN SHOW

Big Educational and Industrial Exhibition to Be Held in City of Springfield.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 19.—All arrangements are practically complete for the great corn show to be held in this city during the coming week. The exhibition will occupy three buildings and is designed to be the largest affair of its kind ever given in this country. The chief purpose of the promoters of the show is to interest the corn growers throughout the country in the modern, scientific ways of raising corn, so that the yield and the quality may be increased and improved.

Whether the corn itself, there will be exhibits of kindred cereals and crucifers, feed and farm machinery and displays of most of the 107 by-products, showing the process from the raw material to the market article. The corn kitchen will show the many ways corn is used as a food, and there will be a course of lectures by men high in the agricultural world on the scientific raising of corn. The agricultural department of the University of Illinois will have charge of the educational features of the exhibition.

TO TRY YOUTH FOR MURDER OF PRIEST

Sixteen Year Old Dominican Confessed to Slaying of Companion in Central Park.

New York, Nov. 19.—Considerable public interest is being manifested in the case of Enrique De Lara, the sixteen-year-old Dominican who will be placed on trial next week for the murder of Arturo Asencio, a priest from Santo Domingo, who was found wounded in Central Park on September 14, and died two days later. De Lara, who confessed his crime to the police, is one of the youngest persons ever placed on trial in this city for murder and also one of the best educated. He speaks several languages fluently and spends most of his time in reading. His father is said to be a wealthy wholesale merchant of Santo Domingo, owning branch stores in France, England and Germany.

The killing of the priest was at first thought to be a case of suicide. De Lara was his protector and had come with him to New York on a pleasure trip. When questioned by the police he confessed the crime and said he had killed the priest because of the latter's depravity. After shooting him through the back of the head the boy rifled the priest's clothes, lighted a cigarette and walked out of the park. Recently he made an unsuccessful attempt at suicide in the Tombs.

TWO-DAY SESSION OPENS IN FULTON

Missouri Society of Charities and Corrections Holds Annual Meeting.

Fulton, Mo., Nov. 19.—Prison reformers, settlement workers, charitable visitors and heads of humane institutions, prisons, reformatories and the like have gathered here from all parts of the state to discuss their various work from the standpoint of the needs of the American community. The occasion of the gathering is the ninth annual meeting of the Missouri Conference of Charities and Corrections, for which a program of unusual interest has been prepared.

Speakers at the initial session this evening will include Dr. Given Campbell of St. Louis, Warden M. W. Hall of the Missouri penitentiary, and W. T. Gross, assistant professor of sociology of the University of Missouri. The conference will continue in session over tomorrow.

PRINCE TANG SHAO COMING TO AMERICA

Distinguished Chinese Delegation Due to Arrive in San Francisco Today.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 19.—The steamship Mongolia, due to arrive here tomorrow, has on board one of the most distinguished Chinese delegations that ever paid a visit to the United States. The party is headed by Prince Tang Shao, son of the emperor of Japan and heir of the throne. He is accompanied by Prince Tsai Tse, a suite of a dozen secretaries, as many attaches and numerous students and servants. Included in the suite are several Chinese graduates of leading American colleges. The royal party will be received with utmost honors upon their arrival here and every courtesy will be extended them by the government officials. On the way east the visitors will stop at several points. At Washington they will be received by President Roosevelt.

ROCKEFELLER AGAIN ON WITNESS STAND

After He Finishes Archbold Will Also Relate More Facts About Trust.

New York, Nov. 19.—John D. Rockefeller went on the witness stand this morning. It was announced after Rockefeller's cross examination by the government's counsel, John D. Archbold, vice-president of the Standard Oil Co., will take the witness stand. Rockefeller's testimony during the morning session consisted of a recital of the purchases by the Standard Oil Co. of numerous oil refineries throughout the eastern states during the twenties, which he said was for the purpose of securing better facilities for enlarging the export trade and gaining valuable specialties in cases and brands of oil. The aggregate property bought he estimated at three million dollars. Rockefeller said it was not true that the rates obtained by him during the Standard Oil company's war with the Pennsylvania railroad were to crush or cripple the entire transportation company so the Standard might acquire its property.

PHILADELPHIA FIRM MADE ASSIGNMENT

Brokerage Concern Closed This Morning—Not Thought Serious.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 19.—The firm of John A. Hordman & Co., stock brokers, made an assignment today. While no figures are as yet available, it is believed the failure will not prove an important one.

GOVERNOR HOKE SMITH TO ACT AS THE TOASTMASTER

At The Banquet Of The Society For Promotion Of Industrial Education.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 19.—Page after page of the Piedmont Hotel register are today filled with names of recognized leaders of thought in the United States. They are delegates to the second annual convention of the National Society for the Promotion of Industrial Education, which will hold its sessions in this city during the remainder of this week.

The society was organized at a meeting held in Cooper Union, New York, in November, 1906, and the first annual convention was held in Chicago a year ago. The organization now has a thousand active members throughout the United States. State branches have been organized in Pennsylvania, Georgia and Massachusetts, and branches in Ohio, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Alabama, Virginia and several other states are in course of formation. State committees have been organized in thirty states, and, as they increase in size, will become branch societies.

A notable banquet has been arranged to usher in the convention to night. Carroll D. Wright, president of the society, will preside and Governor Hoke Smith will act as toastmaster. "Industrial Education as an Essential Factor in Our National Prosperity" will form the topic and the chief speakers will be Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson and Dr. Elmer Ellsworth Brown, United States Commissioner of Education.

The subjects scheduled for discussion at the regular sessions beginning tomorrow include the following: "Moral and Material Benefits of Industrial Education to the Nation"; "Industrial Training Through the Apprenticeship System"; "Promotion of Industrial Education by Means of Trade Schools"; and "Industrial Education in the Public Schools."

Educators and heads of large industries will be the principal speakers. Among those to be heard are L. D. Harvey of Menomonee, Wis., president of the National Educational Association; Charles S. Howe, president of the Case School of Applied Science; E. P. Ballard, a prominent manufacturer of Bridgeport, Conn.; George N. Carman, director of the Lewis Institute, Chicago; Mrs. R. B. Munford, president of the Richmond (Va.) Educational Association; Theodore C. Soerch, president of the Pennsylvania Museum and School of Industrial Art; Carleton J. Gibson, superintendent of schools of Columbus, Ga.; and Dr. Thomas M. Hallett, dean of the School of Pedagogy of New York University.

VAN VLISSENGEN IS RUSHED TO JOLIET

Fear He Would Commit Suicide Said to Be the Reason for the Move.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Peter Van Vlisengen, the self-confessed forger to the amount of $700,000, was taken to Joliet today. Fear that he might attempt suicide was given as the reason for his early removal from the county jail.

Is in Stripes.
Joliet, Ill., Nov. 19.—Peter Van Vlisengen today became convict No. 603.

CLEARY LEADING FOR SPEAKERSHIP TODAY

Darlington Man Appears to Have the Call for the Assembly Speakership.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 19.—As a result of the conference that has been held here by the assembly-elect, it begins to look as if the entire anti-La Follette sentiment in the assembly had centered on M. J. Cleary of Darlington as speaker of the assembly. Messrs. Cleary, E. W. Lelloy of Marinette and L. Ledvina of Two Rivers held a quiet conference in one corner of the Pfister hotel lobby last night, and as a result it is understood today that the candidacy of neither Mr. Lelloy nor Mr. Ledvina will be pressed very forcefully before the coming session of the assembly.

None of the principals of the conference had admitted that a particular agreement for the support of Cleary had been the result, but it was noticed that Mr. Cleary was the only one who was emphatic in his statement that he was in the race to stay. J. E. Thomas of Waukesha, who has also been mentioned as a possible candidate for the speakership, will, it is understood, not press his demand for the place if Mr. Cleary can show the strength claimed for him. C. E. Estabrook of this city, Wallace Ingalls of Racine and Earl H. Bancroft are the other candidates in the field in the La Follette camp.

"PINK" HAWLEY IS NOT RELEASED YET

Still Property of the LaCrosse Baseball Team—LaCrosse Behind in School Schedule.

La Crosse, Wis., Nov. 19.—Emerson P. Hawley, the former manager of the La Crosse baseball team, and who has been engaged by the directors of the Oakbrook club to manage their team in the Wisconsin-Illinois league during the coming season is still the property of the La Crosse organization and before he can secure his release satisfactory negotiations will have to be made.

Are Way Behind.
An official investigation into the educational facilities of La Crosse shows that compared with other cities of its class in 43 states of the union, only 55.6 per cent of the average appropriation is expended and as a consequence the system does not realize its full possibilities. The annual appropriation here is $15,000 when it should be $21,000. A petition will be made to the common council to increase the funds for school purposes.

May Lose Leg.
Falling from his engine and being rolled under a coal dump, Charles Lower, a Milwaukee road switchman had one leg so badly crushed that it is feared amputation will be necessary. The strike which has been in progress on the building of the new county agricultural school at Onalaska has been satisfactorily settled by the Marquette Construction company of Milwaukee which has the contract for the building. The trouble arose over the fact that a bricklayer was induced to work for a few hours on Sunday in order to prepare the building for the carpenters Monday morning. James E. Edly, former manager of the Jewel Tea Company in La Crosse has been bound over for trial on the charge of larceny under $1,000 bonds.

BADLY FLEEDED BY 3 SHARPERS

MARK WALTON AND JOHN ROWALD VICTIMIZED YESTERDAY.

IN OLD POOL-GAME RACKET

Came in From Footville and Fell into Hands of Sporting Gentry Who Had Lots of Money to Bet.

Three sharpers came to town yesterday and relieved two young farmers of $200 in cash by an old game which has been frequently explained in the newspapers but never, heretofore, worked in this vicinity. The victims were Mark Walton and John Rowald, aged 28 and 27 years, respectively, who reside about two miles from Footville. They visited the city yesterday morning in quest of a horse which they had recently purchased of Dan Ryan and after they had their ride in the stable, took a stroll down West Milwaukee street, returning to the Main street intersection about 11:30 a. m. At this point they were halted by well-dressed strangers who asked Walton to direct him to a pool and billiard room. Walton was unable to give the desired information but the stranger, after engaging the pair in a conversation, remarked that he guessed there was such a place on the way to the court-house and that if they wanted to see some fun he would be glad to have them accompany him thither, as he had arranged to play a game for a tidy sum of money with a man whom he had chanced to encounter in the course of his travels. The trio then proceeded to Sam Warner's pool and billiard room and there the comedy-tragedy, requiring in this instance seven hours for its consummation, opened.

"OUT OF THE FOLD"

Act. 1.—The stranger falls to find the gentleman who was to play with him for big stakes and entices Walton and Rowald into a friendly contest. Walton wins the first four games.

Act. 11.—Stranger No. 2 takes a hand in the fifth game. No. 1 presently suggests some good sized stakes. Walton and Rowald exhibit no cash and indeed have none with them, yet strangely enough they are permitted to continue in the play. The game ends in favor of Walton. Stranger No. 1 declares that Walton is entitled to about $500 from Stranger No. 2. The latter does not deny this but insists that Walton must produce cash as evidence that he played in good faith before he will settle with him.

Act. 111.—Walton and Rowald drive 12 miles to their homes to get the money and show Stranger No. 2. In case he is an honorable man and keeps his appointment at 5:30, that their word is as good as their bonds and that they were dead in earnest all the time when they were playing for the waz. Stranger No. 1 accompanies Walton. Mrs. Walton remonstrates with her son but presently permits him to take $150 that has been hidden away in a little old trunk. Rowald takes a tough and a half sum of $200 is pooled in Walton's hands as they start on their triumphant return to the city.

Act. 1V.—Stranger No. 2 has not run away. He is still at the billiard hall and generally admits that he never expected to see the erstwhile players again. He is just about to settle accounts when it suddenly occurs to him to question the right of their friend, Stranger No. 1, to enter the contest without putting up any money.

Act. V.—Stranger No. 3, who has been occupying a seat in the wings quite close to the scene of action, now emerges from obscurity in the role of proprietor of the place. Games for money stakes are not permitted in his establishment and he is greatly concerned in the discovery that the rules are being disregarded in this instance. However, the little deal has apparently progressed so far that he may as well act as stakeholder in order to insure fairness and safeguard his place against further scandal. All parties may deposit their money with him. After that there will be a hearing of the merits of the case. Stranger No. 2 and Walton and Rowald place their shoneems in the hands of the "tribunal." Stranger No. 1 says he can put his share of the cash in one hour and will telegraph Milwaukee.

Act. VI.—Walton and Rowald accompany No. 1 to the Western Union office where he files a telegram. Thereafter, he leaves them on a street corner, stating that he has several small matters to attend to before the money will be telegraphed from Milwaukee assuring them that he will be there with the cash when the quarter re-assembles at Warner's place at 7 p. m.

Donation.—The city hall clock strikes seven and Walton and Rowald re-enter the Warner billiard establishment. Their now found friends are not on hand. Neither is the proprietor, but he is expected at any moment. Enter Sam Warner, "What—you the proprietor?" and other expressions of bewildered amazement. Disney—despair—consultation—advice reviving hope—delayed communication with the police—alarm—entertainment—bursts of anxious waiting—discouragement—two foremen and disheartened pilgrims, muttering and driving home-ward, empty handed. Curtain.

Swindlers Described

According to the story Walton and Rowald told Chief Appleby, the swindler who said he was proprietor of the place enjoined them not to talk above a whisper, even among themselves, about the transaction or speak of it outside the place as a wealthy uncle would be sure to disinherit him if he ever heard that he allowed even so much as a nickel to be gambled for in his place. It was learned today that the telegram which Swindler No. 1 sent out was addressed to a fictitious number and street in Milwaukee and was subsequently returned. Chief Appleby telephoned to the police department at Hollders, Rockford, Madison, and Milwaukee, and discovered a slight clue on which he is working. The names of the three men are unknown. Their descriptions were given as follows:

Swindler No. 1.—35 to 40 years of age, smooth face, light complexion, 5 feet, 9 or 10 inches in height, 135 lbs.; wore brown striped suit with cut trousers; dark form-fitting overcoat; black derby hat. Swindler No. 2.—25 years old; smooth face; 5 ft., 6 inches; dark complexion; light suit and light overcoat. Swindler No. 3.—35 or 40 years old; 5 ft., 9 inches; peaked face and sharp chin; skin very rough; dark suit of clothes; black derby hat.

TEN-YEAR-OLD BOY STOLE ALARM KEYS

Chief of the Beloit Fire Department Has Apprehended the Boy Who Stole Keys From Boxes and Turned in False Alarms.

Beloit, Wis., Nov. 19.—Chief Nygren of the fire department this morning apprehended Willie Huber, a ten-year-old boy who has been turning in false alarms. The boy admitted that he had stolen the keys from boxes and had broken the klax in several places.

Herbert Jonks was arrested on a charge of assault and battery on his next door neighbor, a widow, Mrs. Ida Downer. The trouble started in a quarrel between the children of the two parties. Mrs. Downer claimed that the children were quarrelling and that she went into her neighbor's yard to settle their differences and that Jonks came out and struck her. The case was tried before Acting Judge Rodhouse, who decided the case in favor of the plaintiff. Sentence was suspended for one month condition that he move to another locality and behave himself.

"B" Awarded. The athletic 19 were awarded today to the members of the football team. Fifteen of them received the honor. Woodworth of Janesville was among the number.

A PRETTY WEDDING AT EDGERTON TODAY

Miss Mae White of River Falls, Wis., United in Marriage to R. B. Graves of Sparta.

Edgerton, Wis., Nov. 19.—At 3 p. m. today at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson occurred a very quiet but pretty wedding, when Mrs. Johnson's sister, Miss Mae White, of River Falls was united in marriage to R. B. Graves of Sparta. The marriage services were read by Rev. L. N. Parr in the presence of only the nearest relatives of the contracting parties. Miss White is very well and favorably known here. The groom is a rising young attorney at Sparta. After a brief wedding trip they will be at home to their friends at Sparta. The congratulations of a host of friends here are extended to the happy couple.

The R. N. held a special meeting last evening and initiated two new members. The order is steadily growing, both in membership and interest. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Curran was gladdened early in the week by the arrival of a young son, Mr. Curran is very proud of his family of six boys. Both mother and son are doing nicely.

Geo. Thompson's company of players closed a three days' engagement at the opera-house last evening. They played to a full house each evening and were certainly a fine company.

Frank Langworthy returned to his home at St. Joe, Mo., this morning after a two months' visit with relatives here.

SANTA CLAUS ASKS FOR LETTERS AGAIN

Sends Word to the Gazette to Have His Little Friends Write Him Their Wishes.

Dear old St. Nicholas has again begun to prepare for his Christmas pilgrimage. He is making up his list of good little boys and girls who want presents when he makes his trip with his six reindeer on Christmas eve and slips down the chimney and fills the stockings.

That the little people of Janesville and Edgerton and Evansville and Milton and Orfordville and all the other towns in the county and those who do not live in town but on the farm may have a chance to tell their dear old friend just what they want for Christmas, he has appointed the Gazette as his special agent and asked the editors to see that he gets the letters. Of course everyone who writes will not get all that they ask for because Santa's sleigh is not big enough to satisfy everybody.

In order that Santa may have plenty of time to read all the letters he has asked that they be delivered to the Gazette not later than December 12th. He also asks that they be written on one side of the paper only and just as plain as his little correspondents can write. Be sure and put your name and address and mail them or bring them to the Gazette office. If mailed they must have a two-cent stamp on the envelop and the address must be plainly written. It is hoped that the little people will write the dear old Saint who has visited them so many times and their fathers and mothers before them and their fathers and mothers before that.

Be sure and have the letters in the Gazette office by December 12.

BARLASS PAID $50 FOR HORSEWHIPPING PLAYTER CHILDREN

At Swimming-hole on Road Between Bradford and La Prairie, the 19th of Last September.

There was a settlement out of court on the basis of $50 and costs amounting to $5.83 today in the assault and battery action brought by Charles Playter against Robert Barlass, 19-year-old son of J. T. Barlass of the town of Bradford. The plaintiff, who is confined to his home with two broken ribs, was represented here by Dr. J. A. Loomis whose 11 year old son, Quinn Loomis, was one of the infants alleged to have sustained a severe beating at the hands of Barlass. For the latter offense the same defendant was fined $15 and costs in municipal court on Sept. 24. Playter's two children, George and Verne—aged 10 and 12 years, respectively—were also among the victims of the whip. Dr. Loomis alleges that young Barlass, acting on instructions from his father, concealed himself in the bushes near the swimming-hole and when the youngsters had undressed, proceeded to lash them in an unmerciful manner. In the case of the Loomis boy, nine welts averaging nine inches in length were alleged to have been inflicted and the boy's father declares that this will never efface the scars from that flogging. The elder Barlass is said to have been animated by a purpose to punish the boys for going to swimming without bathing-suits in plain view of passers-by but the parents of the children insist that young Barlass, himself, was in the habit of doing the same thing and that the treatment of the little boys was nothing less than wanton cruelty.

APPORTIONMENT OF COUNTY TAX

AMOUNTS TO BE PAID BY DIFFERENT TOWNS FIGURED OUT.

CITY TO PAY $39,986.37

Beloit is Close to Janesville in Amount of Taxes to Be Paid.

In Rock county the total county and state tax to be paid by the county this year amounts to $104,234.26. Following the three-day session of the county board the work of apportioning the amount of this tax to be paid by the different towns in the county has just been completed. The city of Janesville of course pays the largest amount but Beloit is only about two thousand behind.

The apportionment is as follows:

Visit Here Postponed. Col. Marshall of Chicago, provincial officer of the Salvation Army who was expected to speak at the barracks with Brigadier Dobbins next Tuesday evening, is very ill and will not be able to fulfill his engagement. Capt. and Mrs. Fleming and the members and friends of the Post are greatly disappointed but hope he will be able to come here at some later date.

For Overcoat Stolen. Julius Jeager of Center had a brown fur overcoat stolen from his farm wagon on River street about five o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Fraternity in Beloit. "Things are picking up in Beloit" but the Park-bank-Morse plant did not hire 1,000 men the day after "Puff's" election as reported in an over-enthusiastic Massachusetts paper," said John Love of the Line City who was a visitor here today. "As a matter of fact they discharged their usual quota of 15 on the day in question. Del Chamberlain seems to have as good a chance as anyone to succeed H. O. Scholten as chief of police, though there is going to be a fight over the appointment."

Grass Fire. The fire department was called out this afternoon to answer to a still alarm turned in by some one who thought there was a grass fire by the residence of the city engineer. Several of the company employees were burning off weeds about the building and the department had their run for nothing.

Street Cars Crash: Many Passengers Were Excited. Main Street Car Smashed Into Milton Avenue Car at Main and Milwaukee Streets.

Through an error in failure to throw the switch properly the Main street car No. 6 coming down from the depot ran into car No. 12 coming down East Milwaukee street hill at 9:20 last night. Both cars were well filled with passengers and but for the promptness of the motorman on No. 12 reversing his power a bad smash-up would have occurred. As it was, the only damage done was to break the fenders of the two cars and smash the glass in the vestibules. Few of the passengers were alarmed by the accident, taking it for nothing more than the usual bumping of the cars themselves. A good-sized crowd, however, was attracted by the happening.

Several Very Good Counterfeits Have Been in Circulation Lately.

During the last six weeks or so a number of very good counterfeit silver dollars have been discovered by local bankers. They are almost perfect as far as appearance is concerned and no one but a skilled observer could detect that they were counterfeits. When placed upon the scales, however, they are slightly short in weight.

A bank will generally run across a number of counterfeits, together, that is, several will turn up in a week or so and then no more will be found for a month. One local banker sent several of the counterfeit silver dollars to the government secret service men in order that they might be on the lookout.

A counterfeit five dollar bill has been found in Chicago but none of them have been discovered in Janesville yet. It is a silver certificate of the series of 1899 numbered 047963872. The silk threads are imitated by red ink lines and the paper is lacking in toughness. A number of other defects are to be found on close observation.

MAN KICKED IN FACE AND BADLY INJURED. Wm. Hall Had His Nose Broken and Was Thrown Twelve Feet by Horse Kicking Him in Face.

Bradford, Nov. 19.—Wm. Hall was kicked in the face by one of his horses, badly smashing his nose and knocking him twelve feet. The injury was very painful, but Mr. Hall is getting along nicely.

Word was received here Wednesday that N. M. Jure of Burke, S. D., formerly a resident here, was among those fortunate enough to draw a fine 100-acre claim at the recent land-drawing in that state.

Mr. Lucius Smith arrived home from Chamberlain, South Dakota, Wednesday.

Dr. G. S. Darby spent the forepart of the week in Fowler, Indiana, with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Engen spent Wednesday in Beloit with relatives.

Miss Mary Mitchell, who has been in Clarksville, Iowa, for some weeks past, arrived home on Monday.

The Sub-Rosa club gave Mrs. Wm. Hall a pleasant surprise party last evening. Upon her arrival home from the store she found them in possession of the house and an oyster supper under way. A happy time was had until a late hour.

George L. Winograd visited in Janesville on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. K. O. Loftus, who have been the guests of friends in Iowa and Minnesota for some weeks, came home the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. McDaniel and family spent Wednesday with Janesville friends.

Miss Alice Rossiter was here from Orfordville and returned Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stewart spent Wednesday with Julia friends.

EX-CONGRESSMAN JAMES T. MC LEARY AT LEFT AND CONGRESSMAN W. P. HEPBURN AT RIGHT.

The congressional elections November 3 upset many ideas. The story has been told before. The extent of the downfall can scarcely be realized without a repetition of the suggestion that the sixty-first congress will miss among others the Hon. Peter Hepburn of Clarinda, Iowa. Congressman Hepburn has been in congress almost since the republican party was founded. He has been in the front rank of republican politics for half a century. Back in 1850 he was representing Iowa in national conventions. He broke into congress in its forty-seventh session, 30 years ago. He served continuously for six years. Then he skipped three sessions, returning to the fifty-third congress, and serving in the fifty-fourth, fifty-fifth, fifty-sixth, fifty-eighth, fifty-ninth, and sixtieth houses. In congress he has been a perpetual leader and it was the general impression that Hepburn was a congressional fixture. For several sessions he has been the chairman of the all-important committee on interstate and foreign commerce. With all of the rule bill legislation pending this has been one of the most important committees in action. But Hepburn has been beaten. The returns say it was by a meager 100 votes. One hundred votes, however, are enough and the eighth Iowa district will be represented by a democrat. Another leader to go down in the moles is James T. McLeary of Minnesota. McLeary served in congress many years. Then the democrat Mr. Hammond—friend of Governor Johnson—beat him. McLeary was taken care of in the postoffice department at Washington, being made second assistant postmaster general. He resigned this position in order to return to Minnesota and take up the fight against Hammond, who was out for reelection. But Hammond has again taken his scalp.

WOMEN VOTE FOR PRESIDENT

And for All Other Officers in All Elections on the Same Terms as Men in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho

WHY NOT IN MICHIGAN?

THE POSTER WHICH IS BEING CIRCULATED NATIONALLY BY THE WOMEN SUFFRAGISTS NATIONAL COMMITTEE AND A PHOTOGRAPH OF REV. ANNA SHAW, PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN SUFFRAGIST MOVEMENT.

The latest evidence of the activities of the women suffragists of America is the poster which has been sent out to every state in the Union except the four states which already have equal suffrage. Every town and city is flooded with these and they are posted in all public places. The suffragist movement in America differs widely from the movement in other countries, largely due to different conditions which they have to meet. While the houses of parliament are being besieged by crowds of enthusiastic suffragists the American leaders adopt a more diplomatic and educational method.

Mrs. Philip Snowden, the finest lady orator in the world, and one of the strong leaders in the English movement, created a very favorable impression during the Buffalo convention, and her analysis of the different conditions which have to be met and combated with in the two countries puts an entirely different light on the English movement. Mrs. Snowden contends that the ladies are not receiving a square deal at the hands of the British police, and that there are decidedly two sides to the movement in England. She contends that while the press has devoted much space to recounting the so-called "mob riots" they have not presented the other side of the question, which if told accurately would include many discreditable charges against the police. One point which bears the pride of the English suffragists most is the fact that for many years the obsolete law prohibiting any gathering within a mile of the parliament building has never been enforced against the men who gather there. Since the ladies commenced to congregate, however, this old law was immediately turned into action and these gatherings were turned into mobs and riots and the ladies thrown into prison before any actual outbreak had occurred. This only incensed the ladies to repeated attacks and now the English parliament has prohibited any ladies entering parliament buildings, even in the visitors' gallery.

In the United States the movement has attained a considerable momentum. The convention at Buffalo just ended was attended by 7,000 enthusiastic ladies, and all pronounced it one of the most successful suffragist meetings ever held. The work outlined includes a national publicity and educational campaign, of which the poster is only the forerunner. In addition to this special effort are being made to carry the states of Oklahoma and North Dakota for the equal suffrage this year.

The most important fact, however, is the opening of a Washington headquarters, and a determined effort to secure an amendment to the national constitution which will provide equal suffrage.

Rev. Anna Shaw is one of the most remarkable ladies in America today. We have our self-made men in every walk of life, but only a few self-made women. Miss Shaw is one of these. Reared in the pioneer days of early Michigan, she was a bright, vivacious girl when she entered the high school at Big Rapids, Mich. At this time she was far from the religiously inclined girl we might expect. In fact she did not believe in a God and was almost an infidel. It was while here that she met Mrs. Amos R. Morehouse, whom she afterwards termed her "spiritual mother." Mrs. Morehouse had a wonderful influence over the young girl. They had many long arguments on religion and before her course was completed she had been converted to the religion formally attacked.

Mrs. Shaw is today well known by her lectures and sermons. It is interesting to know that in her first attempt she was unable to get through for some reason and took her seat. In a few minutes she arose with the determined announcement that now she could finish and she did. "This is typical of the determination and strength of will which has placed her today at the head of the greatest women suffragist movement in the world."

RIPPLES OF MIRTH

No More of It.

No more "last appeals" by the new papers.
No more "save the country" from the candidates.
No more "and you are another" between lifelong friends.
No more jumping on to Smith for bringing on the panic.
No more jumping on to Jones for keeping it up.
Husbands will once more walk to business together.
Wives will once more gossip over the fire stoves.
The "sore," "sneak," and "patriotic addressers."
George Washington and Bunker Hill will get a rest.
No will the records of public men.
No will the "voters' list" exclamation points.
No will the "grand old flag."
No will the threats of the candidates.
In a few mornings we shall wake up and find such a blissful stillness and such a delicious silence pervading the land that we shall wonder what time in the night we died and winged our way to that better clime.
It's worth going through just to get over it.
JOE KERR.

And So It Goes.

He is up betimes on election morning. His face carries a look of sternness and determination that makes his wife afraid that he meditates turning off the gas and going back to candles.
When ready to leave the house he buttons his overcoat like a man that has fully made up his mind to do or die. John Hancock did the same thing before beginning to mold bullets for the revolution.
He departs with a firm tread. It can be seen in his face that nothing can turn him from his purpose. He looks neither to the right nor the left, but marches straight to the polling place.
He is going to cast his vote!
If the inspectors refuse it it will mean blood.
They look at him doubtfully and whisper among themselves. He does them with a defiant stare in return.
There are just 60 seconds when the spectators hold their breath and ask themselves if there is to be a tragedy that will echo around the world.
Not the inspectors hand him a ballot and he thanks and votes it and walks out. They were afraid to tackle him.
And now, having determined the fate of the election by casting his ballot, his face relaxes his sternness, his knees tremble up, and he even condescends to smile and shake hands with acquaintances. All day long the feeling is with him that his vote routed the opposition, horses, foot and dragons, and he picks up the evening paper with a eagerness that surprises himself. Then there is a groan of despair and a yell for blood. He reads: "The vote in the 15th precinct of the Ninth ward stood 17 to 180!"
JOE KERR.

THE DAY AFTER ELECTION.

After the ballots have fallen,
After the break of dawn,
After the voting is over,
After the prize is drawn,
Many a heart is aching,
While many others are glad.
Many a fellow is thinking
Of the office he might have had.

Kitchen Politics.

Of course, I'm in politics all the time," remarked the lawyer, "but my wife has always given the subject the cold shoulder until within a few days. Then she suddenly began to read and talk politics and made rapid progress. I encouraged her all I could, and she was soon talking about tariff, protection, and all sorts of legislation. About that time our cook quit her job and upset our domestic arrangements. We supposed she had gone for good, but after four days she came snatching back and wanted her old place. I was at home at the time and was delighted. So was my wife for a minute or two.
"Go right out to the kitchen and tell Mary to take her things off and go to work," was my advice.
"Yes, I will see her, but I may not take her back," was the reply.
"I followed her out to see where the doubt came in, and she accented the returned cook with:
"Mary, you know there's a presidential campaign on?
"Yes'm.
"How do you stand on the tariff revision plank?
"As how, ma'am?" asked Mary with a puzzled look.
"Are you in favor of high or low tariff?"
"Low tariff, ma'am."
"Then you can get right out again. This is a high tariff house and we don't want you!"
And Mary went."

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair tonight and Friday, slightly cooler in southeast portion.

JUST TO BE LET ALONE

"One of the most gratifying features of the day is the simultaneous revival of business in many directions. Of course, improvement is much more pronounced in some quarters than others, but the recovery is most certainly genuine and not of the imaginary sort talked about by last summer's 'prosperity' boomers. There is no extraordinary prosperity nor boom in sight, and none is desired; for the country has had enough of such and their disastrous reactions, and simply requires a gradual and steady resumption of normal activities, such as it is now experiencing. All that the country needs for the present is to be let alone for a period in order to recover its nerve and wanted activities."

This extract from Henry Clow's financial letter is a brief summary of conditions as they exist today. No boom, but just a gradual return of prosperity. If congress and state legislatures could be put out of commission for the next two years, and the strenuous president induced to start on his jungle expedition right after the holidays, it would give the country a chance for a much-needed rest.

The nation is not suffering for more laws, but is attempting to recover from an epidemic of indigestion resulting from an overdose of reform measures.

The state of Michigan has been so busy reforming everything in sight that everything else was sacrificed and today the state treasury is bankrupt, and employees are obliged to wait indefinitely for their pay. Michigan needs a year of rest to find out where she is at.

The people of Wisconsin would not be satisfied until they had an opportunity to declare their independence through the primary law, and now are sorry that they spoke. Wisconsin needs a little time to catch her breath and recover from the pace that demoralizes.

Many other states are suffering from the same tired feeling, and the railroads, as well as many other corporations, have long been suffering for a breathing spell.

The year 1909 should be devoted to rest and recuperation. It may not be possible to have it until after the 1st of March because of the flood of letters and memoranda which will deluge the country from the White House during the closing days of an aggressive administration.

WHETHER OR NO

Samuel Gompers and several other prominent labor leaders declined to be present at the White House dinner, a few days ago, but their absence in no way interfered with the regular program. The president ignores their independence and proposes to use his influence for anti-injunction legislation, "Whether or no."

There are some lessons growing out of the campaign which the president fails to recognize, and one of them is the attitude of organized labor. Fear was expressed that the unions throughout the country would oppose Secretary Taft because of court rulings which were said to be obnoxious. But the support given the republican ticket demonstrated very clearly that the rank and file of organized labor was not disorganized. Agitators and walking delegates represent an insignificant fraction of labor. Yet this handful of men do the talking, and have evidently caught the ear of the national administration.

Union men, as a class, are seldom in favor of strikes or boycotts, and the picket work demanded of them is always distasteful. They are law-abiding citizens, and if let alone by designing leaders would be as loyal to the interests of employers, as non-union men.

They are not clamoring for more liberal anti-injunction laws, because they possess the intelligence to know that the capital which furnishes employment is entitled to protection. Drop out the little category of disturbing leaders, and the labor question would settle itself without friction.

The president can hardly afford to be influenced by this little group of disturbers. He has already succeeded in establishing an 8-hour day for government employees, and set the pace for any amount of trouble to private employees. Time to take a rest.

RUNNING BEHIND

The effects of the panic is shown in the last report from the national treasury department. Tariff and internal revenue receipts have fallen off to such an extent that the nation faces a deficit of about $100,000,000 for the current year.

While there is nothing particularly alarming about these conditions, as the treasury is still well supplied with money, it would mean eventually another bond issue, such as occurred during Cleveland's second administration, unless the deficit is remedied.

There are only two ways in which this can be done. One is to increase receipts, and it is gratifying to know that improvement is already shown in this direction, for with the return of good times, money is being spent more freely for foreign luxuries, and the revenue will be feeling the effects. The other is to economize, and to this work much time will be devoted by the next congress. A Washington dispatch to an eastern exchange says of this feature:

"Aside from passing the regular appropriation bills congress is expected to do little else at the coming session. These bills will give them sufficient work, for it is recognized on all hands that unless the pruning knife is sunk deep, new sources of revenue will have to be sought. Even should the revenue increase with the advent of industrial activity, economy in public expenditures will be absolutely necessary."

"With that end in view Chairman Taft's of the house committee on appropriations has already begun to compile his data for the several big bills that are prepared by his committee. Wherever possible estimates will be trimmed. Because of the falling off in revenues practically no new projects will get through this short session."

"There is a disposition to pass some sort of a bill to help the export trade by means of subsidy, and Senator Gallinger will again bring the subject to the front, but with apparently less hope of passing such a measure now than in the last session of congress. "As regards financial legislation none will be seriously attempted. The Aldrich-Vreeland currency act is considered sufficient to meet any reasonable emergency. In fact all general legislation will be put aside until the tariff is revised or readjusted at the special session. After it is in operation for six months government officials can then determine its revenue-producing qualities and proceed to legislation that they may desire to enact in full knowledge of what the revenues will be."

It looks to an outsider as though the Hon. S. A. Cook of Keenah had joined forces with somebody on the proposed senatorial contest in the coming legislature. The old gentleman evidently feels that he is entitled to something to show for his policy.

John D. Rockefeller earned $1.50 yesterday on the witness stand. That ought to help some in providing for a rainy day.

When two of our streetcar floating palaces are disabled, it is a little discouraging to the principal stockholder.

All kinds of railroad bonds are now in active demand, which indicates that the new prosperity has arrived.

Janesville is strictly in it when a $300 shell game can be pulled off on short notice.

IS HETTY GREEN HAPPY?

Item.—A plain old woman, wearing a dowdy black dress, with a slatternly appearing old hat tipped over a shrewd eye and a cunning face.

That is a pen picture of Hetty Green, owner of many millions, as she sits at her private desk in the big bank she owns in New York city.

Since the days of Russell Sage this woman has more ready cash to lend than any other person in Gotham. When taxes come in slowly and the city authorities need money to meet the heavy expenses they go to Hetty Green for it—and pay good interest for the short loan, you may be sure.

For many years Hetty Green lived in a cheap flat in Hoboken, just across the river from Manhattan, and paid there a rental of $10 per month. Now York gasped when she gave up her flat and moved into the high priced Plaza hotel. It did not last long, though Hetty could have bought the hotel and never missed the money.

She went back to Hoboken and tried to rent the old flat, but it had been leased. She is still looking for a flat in that neighborhood.

You see, cents are cheaper and living is cheaper in Hoboken. And the grasping old woman plucks the nickels closer than you or I.

She lives only to pile up extra dollars.

So far as known, Hetty Green never gave away a dollar. It would be difficult to make her believe in the benediction, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

Therefore it is almost superfluous to inquire whether, with all her dollars, she is happy.

Not necessarily. Dollars won by commercial conquest may give to the conqueror a certain species of satisfaction, but dollars cannot bring happiness. Happiness and dollars belong to different worlds.

Wealth itself is like salt water.

That is to say, the more you drink of either the more you want.

And so this money and little woman, at a time when she ought to be dancing her grandchildren on her knee, sits long hours in the bank. Besides the bank which she controls, she has many millions invested in real estate and securities.

She denies herself the comforts demanded by a twelve dollar a week clerk and goes on squeezing out dollars.

For what?

F. C. WHITEHOUSE, WHO CLAIMS ENTIRE VALLEY IN AFRICA.

F. C. Whitehouse, the eminent Egyptologist, known as "Coco" Whitehouse, who, through the state department at Washington, lays claim to a valley in Egypt worth perhaps $50,000,000. Mr. Whitehouse claims the valley was the original reservoir for the irrigation of Egypt. He does not propose to make money out of it, but wants to see Egypt restored to prosperity by its use. Mr. Whitehouse is accounted one of the world's most profound scholars.

"THE RELIABLE JEWELERS"

A REMARKABLE DIFFERENCE IN COFFEES

I can take 100 lbs. of Golden Blend in the green and roast it so that it will make the Golden Blend coffee that is sold here regularly each day, and I can take another 100 lbs. of the same coffee and roast it so that it will taste rank, sour or bitter. Yet you can pick up a handful of either coffee and would hardly see a difference, except possibly that one would be a little darker than the other. Coffee that is properly roasted should be of a cinnamon brown color. The least variation from this is immediately seen by the expert, and yet if you asked the ordinary dealer to tell you technically what cinnamon brown really is he would go into a long, rambling, unsatisfactory explanation or would frankly admit that he did not know what it meant in the true sense.

This shows the importance of expert knowledge in the handling and blending of coffee. Every pound of Golden Blend is handled by men who have a thorough knowledge of coffee. It is tested by cup test and blended by the same test. Its quality never varies.

Golden Blend will suit nine-tenths of all the people in Janesville because it is a standard of what good coffee should be. If you will try a pound of Golden Blend upon my recommendation, and if it fails to suit your taste, I will blend specially for you. I will blend in half pound lots and make you a present of the coffee until I have suited your taste. When once I know what you want, I will have no trouble to suit you in the future.

Call me up today.

We now offer to the public a new pattern, the "Madam Jumel"—produced in a complete line of knives, forks, spoons and fancy pieces. This design is thoroughly Colonial in the simplicity of its lines, its ornamentation suggesting the late 18th century school of French Neo-Classicism. This pattern is distinctly novel having been introduced to the public only this fall. It is extra heavy in weight, of Sterling Silver and very serviceable.

WHAT IS ALVEOLAR DENTISTRY?

Alveolar dentistry is just a new name for bridge work—simply a new name for an old method.

No Alveolar dentist attempts to put in teeth unless you have a few remaining teeth upon which to build the bridge work.

When you pay more than $5.00 to have a gold crown put on a tooth, whether it is called an Alveolar crown or by any other name, you pay too much.

I charge $5.00 for gold crowns, and it is sufficient for any dentist to charge—this means for the best work it is possible to do.

Call any time as you go by, and talk the matter over—you will not be obliged to have the work done.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

The small necessities of dress do much to add beauty to new garments and freshen up old. The girl who is what our mothers called "handy" with her needle is among the lucky ones, for she can have twice the pretty things that the girl who depends on others is able to buy. In addition, if she is original, and American girls are noted for that as for their beauty, then she can have things that cannot be bought, that give a style and individuality to her wardrobe that is the envy of her mates. One clever girl whose income is as limited as her ideas are not building up a profitable little business for herself by making the sashes, bows and pretty ties that are eagerly sought by other girls. Less gifted as to wit and more blessed as to the contents of their pocket-books, the girl who "makes over" and refreshes her own gown, if she is original and deft with her hands, as well as her wits, has a keen delight in making "something out of nothing," that the girl who goes to a fashionable dressmaker never knows. One of her latest and most fascinating tricks is to make the net camp of her directoire or empire evening gown in the same shade as the gown. Who knows that the net is part of a summer blouse and that with the aid of gasoline, in which she has mixed the colors from her paint tubes, it has been dyed the exact shade by her own hands? It is one of the latest fads and a very pretty one to have the gump the same shade of either lace or net. Chiffon yokes are not so much used as they were last year.

The white cotton crepe that is so inexpensive and soft, is being used for waists. Be sure that you get the Japanese variety, as the American imitation is neither so soft nor washable. These waists are trimmed with either lace or embroidery and the ready-made ones cost up in the twenties. Chiffon or French damask waists are made in plain manish styles, without plaits or even tucks. A patch pocket stitched on the left side is permitted. It is ostensibly for the handkerchief, but looks better when empty.

HATS.

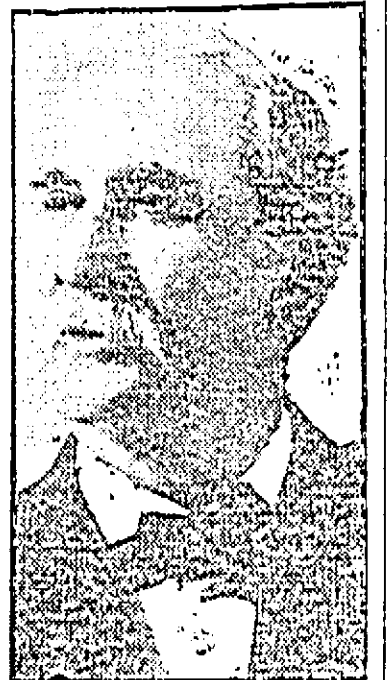

Did you ever stop to think just why hats are worn anyway? Of course, in the colder climates they are a protection and in case of rain they serve the same purpose. But nature took care of this year's before the hat came into existence by furnishing each individual with a generous allowance of hair to protect the head. Hats and caps were early adopted by the inhabitants of northern climates as a covering of the head. It was not until the Phrygians had conquered Asia Minor that the people of warmer latitudes wore any head covering. The Phrygians were the first to adopt the fashion, and they did it in order to distinguish themselves from the conquered race with whom they lived. Their head dress was a small, cone fitting cap, which was also soon adopted by the Roman free citizens. In fact a Swiss manufacturer of Paris invented the first hat.

The hats of the various nations differ as widely as the cast from the west. Every arrangement of cloth, straw and feathers that fancy could conceive has been tried out as a hat ornamentation. Hats have become through association, a sort of trade mark, not only of the nation itself, but of the social standing of the individual in the nation. It tells you his age, nationality, and, in many cases, the section within a nation from which its wearer hails. As, for example, the typical western hat and the cowboy panache hat. It also represents his occupation in many cases, as the sailor, the captain of the ship, the various hats of the army and navy, the over-present rubs hat and a host of others to numerous to mention. The college freshmen can always be spotted when in the college attire by the little skull cap which is invariably worn in most colleges and universi-

CUNNINGHAM LAID UP BY INJURIES

Madison, Wis., Nov. 10.—"Coach" Cunningham, field general of the University of Wisconsin football team, was so badly injured in scrimmage yesterday afternoon that he had to be carried to the gymnasium and after Drs. Hutchings and Elson had cared for him they announced that he could not possibly play in the game with Chicago Saturday. Cunningham's left ankle is badly sprained and he will have to use crutches. His injury is a severe blow to the budgers' chances, as he was running the team more speedily and at the same time more steadily than it has been operated this season. Quarterback Mull will now be required to call the signals.

In the scrimmage yesterday the scrubs opposed the varsity, the first team making five touchdowns and the seconds failing to make any score. Muckleston was back at right halfback, Calver at left halfback and Dretzler at right guard, these three returning to their positions after temporarily serving on the scrubs. It is believed that the coaches did not mean permanently to relegate them, except Cunningham, for Muckleston, but wanted to induce more fight spirit into the men through fear of losing their places. They were successful in this, for old followers of football declare that never before have there been such fierce scrimmages as have been held the three days of this week.

WARREN GARST. Des Moines, Iowa.—Warren Garst of Coon Rapids will be governor of Iowa for six weeks. He was defeated at the Republican primaries for the gubernatorial nomination, but he is yet to be governor, Governor Cummins, at a special session of the legislature November 21, will be elected to the United States senate to succeed the late William D. Allison. He will immediately resign and the gubernatorial robe will fall upon the shoulders of Lieutenant Governor Garst, whose duty it will be to write and present to the legislature this winter the biennial message. This same legislature will install R. P. Carroll as governor.

Having a Shy at Literature. A young professor of mathematics, immense at chess, capable of playing on the violin, once said to me, after listening to some chat on books: "Yes; I must take up literature." As though saying: "I was rather forgetting literature. However, I've polished off all these other things. I'll have a shy at literature now." —Arnold Bennett, in T. P.'s Weekly.

Little Meat; Good Health. Millions of the poorer class generally enjoy good health. This is partly attributed to the fact that the working class of Italy eat less meat than those of other European nations.

The Peril of Reformers. Many a reformer perishes in the removal of rubbish and that makes the consciousness of the class. They are partial; they are not equal to the work they pretend. They lose their way; in the assault on the kingdom of darkness they expend all their energy on some accidental evil, and lose their sanity and power of benefit. —R. W. Ours is a stock that would do credit to the largest city stores. Remember, these choice Cloths all go on sale at 1-10 off from regular price Friday and Saturday.

It will pay you to buy a year's supply of linen at our figures as it is like buying gold dollars at 90 1-4c.

TAFT PRAISES ROOT

Thinks He Will Go to Senate, Wants Him in Cabinet.

MEETS SHERMAN AND WARD

Political Conference at Hot Springs—Vice-President-Elect Believes Cannon Will Be Re-Elected Speaker—Knight Would Take Navy Portfolio.

Hot Springs, Va., Nov. 18.—Judge Taft, who arrived here Wednesday morning from Cincinnati, conferred in the afternoon with Vice-President-elect Sherman and National Committeeman William Ward of New York. General politics were discussed, and especially the New York senatorship and Mr. Taft's cabinet.

The president-elect arrived from Cincinnati in the morning and Mr. Sherman and Mr. Ward left for the east at night.

While no one at the conference wished to be quoted on the subject, it may be stated as the opinion of all that Secretary Root will be the successor in the United States senate of T. C. Platt. This, of course, is based upon the understanding that Mr. Root wishes the place. Judge Taft has had no hesitancy from the first in giving positive expression to his desire to make Mr. Root the premier of his cabinet. He has also stated that if his persuasion could prevail, the present secretary of state would retain that portfolio, despite his senatorial ambitions.

Taft's Praise of Root.

"Mr. Root is preeminently a statesman," said Judge Taft Wednesday in referring to his cordial friendly feeling and admiration for the secretary of state. "He has the most wonderful faculty of planning in detail for the future, both with respect to domestic affairs and international relations, of anyone I have ever known. He has such a plan for the development of our relations with the South and Central American countries, such plans as indeed most those of true statesmanship in any direction, must be worked out step by step, with patience and time."

It is the understanding here that one of the main reasons for Mr. Root's desire to be relieved of cabinet duty is that both himself and Mrs. Root may be rid of the somewhat taxing and exacting social duties required of the secretary of state.

Thinks Cannon Will Be Speaker.

It is understood that Mr. Sherman gave it as his opinion to Judge Taft at the conference that Speaker Cannon would continue to hold that office in the Sixty-first congress. Further details were not obtainable, the explanation given by Judge Taft being: "It was a general talk regarding many matters and persons. Just such talks as I desire and expect to have with the party leaders and those men who had to do with the campaign and as a result of which in the end I shall be able to form opinions and make decisions. There was nothing definite done nor was the discussion of a character that its publicity would be either interesting or opportune."

Judge Taft sent a cablegram extending his hearty congratulations to Cuba through Gov. Magoo on the conduct and result of the recent election there.

Knight Mentioned for Cabinet.

Washington, Nov. 18.—The name of George A. Knight, the gifted California orator who seconded Mr. Taft's nomination at Chicago, is the latest to figure in the cabinet gossip. It is understood that Mr. Knight has been intimate to some of his friends that he is in a receptive position and would not be averse to accepting the portfolio of the navy under President Taft.

MRS. ROOT INHERITS $300,000.

Wife of Secretary of State Gets Property from Parents.

New York, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Ellhu Root, wife of the secretary of state, comes into possession of a fortune estimated at from $250,000 to $300,000 through the death of her mother, Mrs. Salem H. Wales, whose will has just been filed at Liverpool, L. I. Mrs. Root's father died in December, 1902, leaving his estate in a trust fund to be divided at the widow's death equally between the children, Mrs. Clara Wales Root and Edward H. Wales.

Negroes Sue Railroad.

Guthrie, Okla., Nov. 17.—A committee of prominent negroes of Oklahoma Wednesday filed with the corporation commission a suit against every railroad in the state demanding dining and sleeping cars for colored as well as white travelers. The petition also asks that white passengers be prohibited from passing through the "Jim Crow" coaches.

Australian Suffragists Win.

Melbourne, Australia, Nov. 18.—The Victoria legislative council has passed the bill empowering women to vote at state elections. This bill previously had been rejected several times. The women throughout Australia have now won the right of suffrage in both commonwealth and state elections.

Woman Accused of Murder.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Robert E. Kinney, a Pennsylvania yardmaster, was shot dead Wednesday night on Seneca street. Agnes Galtin, the wife of Edward Galtin of Terre Haute, Ind., is under arrest charged with firing the fatal shot.

FRIENDS AND CLIMATE BRING CROKER ACROSS

Coming on the Lusitania, the Former Tammany Chief Talks About His Plans.

On board the Steamer Lusitania, at Sea, Nov. 19, (by Wireless via Hallifax, N. S.).—As the Lusitania was approaching the American coast Richard Croker, the former Tammany leader, looking more rugged and vigorous even than in the old days, his white hair and beard setting off the ruddiness that the ocean winds brought to his face, spoke freely of his visit to the United States, to which, he confided, he had looked forward with a great longing.

"Many of my old friends are passing away, and I desire to see those of them that are left," he said. "It is grand to have friends of long ago friends of today."

Mr. Croker wished to add to the joy of meeting his old friends, the pleasure of spending a winter in California or some winter resort with a temperate climate.

As to politics Mr. Croker was his customary reticent and non-committal self.

"I am out of politics," he declared, but he intimated that although he would not discuss political matters for publication, he might, and doubtless would, talk politics with his immediate friends. "I am a citizen of the United States," he added smilingly, "and anything relating to that country interests me—even politics."

When he reverted to his Irish estate and his horses, he became enthusiastic, almost voluble. Glenasmole, his place, plain to be seen, and is proud of the fact that it is self-sustaining. That his horses by their winnings and the high prices they bring when sold keep the place running was something he dwelt upon with pride. Modestly mentioning his great feat of having captured the English Derby, he contented himself as to prophecy with saying that his turf prospects for the coming year were "excellent."

FOUND IN THE OHIO RIVER.

Body of Brent Woodall of Cincinnati Is Discovered.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 19.—The body of a young man, supposed to be Brent Woodall, secretary of the University of Cincinnati, and former newspaper man of that city, was found in the Ohio river at the foot of Thirty-sixth street late Wednesday. Woodall disappeared from his home in Covington on November 1 and only last week a party of Cincinnati men were in Louisville looking for traces of the missing man. The body answers in every particular the description of Woodall sent out by the Cincinnati police. The clothes bear the mark of a Cincinnati maker and his thin carries the initials "F. P. W."—the boy's father.

Find Kettle Full of Money.

Oil City, Pa., Nov. 19.—While digging around a hole in which a rabbit had disappeared, Edward Woods and Thomas Dickinson, lumbermen employed near here, uncovered an iron kettle containing $3,000 in gold coins and $22 in silver. Old residents of this section believe the money was buried by John Caldwell, an eccentric farmer, who died in an insane asylum nearly 30 years ago.

Boiler Explodes; One Killed.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—One man was killed and five others were injured Wednesday afternoon when a boiler to be used for rendering purposes exploded while being tested near the Armour plant in the stockyards. The boiler was being tested with compressed air to determine the amount of pressure it would stand.

Lieut. Evans Reprimanded.

Washington, Nov. 19.—Lieut. Frank T. Evans, United States navy, who was recently reduced 150 numbers in rank for conduct unbecoming an officer and prejudicial to the service, was reprimanded Wednesday by Acting Secretary Newberry in accordance with the findings of the court-martial.

Natives Kill Their Women Folk.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 19.—The steamship Monna, which arrived Wednesday from Australia, brought news of a massacre in the Rock Islands, belonging to New Pomerania, where the natives killed 30 of their women folk. It is the intention of the Germans to send a punitive expedition there.

Vast Quantity of Whisky Burned.

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 19.—Two warehouses of the Tom Moore Distilling Company at Bardonia, in which were stored 15,000 barrels of whisky, were burned late Wednesday, entailing a loss to the firm of about $400,000. The loss to the government is $750,000.

British Bark and Crew Lost.

Victoria, B. C., Nov. 19.—News brought here Wednesday tells of the loss, with all on board, of the British bark Loch Lomond off the Chatham Islands where wreckage and life buoys belonging to the vessel were found. No trace was found of the crew.

Irish Cows Good Milkers.

JAPAN'S BIG FLEET IS REVIEWED BY MIKADO

Piloted by Admiral Togo, the Emperor Views His 110 Fighting Ships at Kobe.

Kobe, Japan, Nov. 19.—The emperor on Wednesday held a grand naval review here, in which 110 fighting ships, besides a lot of submarines, were inspected.

Embarking on the battleship Asama, the emperor was welcomed by Admiral Togo and the other admirals of the fleet. As dozens of guns volleyed their salute the sun emerged from behind a cloud, transfiguring the great array of ships with their flying banners and plainly outlining on a distant hillside the figure of an anchor composed of plumes planted by school children in 1903.

The Asama, with Admiral Togo on the bridge, steamed slowly between the lines of warships and auxiliaries with every hand playing the national anthem. Togo, at the emperor's side, detailed the strength and equipment of each vessel, pointing out the ships captured from Russia during the Russo-Japanese war.

The review was concluded shortly before noon and the officers took tiffin on the Asama. As the emperor left the flagship the entire fleet united in a thunderous salute.

Prior to his departure for the shore the emperor congratulated the navy upon a great improvement due to the energies of officers and men. At Kobe Wednesday night the scene was a magnificent one. The entire fleet was outlined in electric lights and the city was swarming with enthusiastic crowds.

TRAGEDY IN PITTSBURG.

New York Lawyer Shoots Brother and Fatally Wounds Self.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 19.—Benben Crown, said to be a New York attorney, is in a hospital here mortally wounded by a revolver shot alleged to have been self-inflicted.

Joseph Crown, his brother, a well-known Pittsburg lawyer, is in an adjoining ward, dangerously wounded by a shot which the New York man is accused of having inflicted.

The shooting occurred in Joseph Crown's office in the Hinkwell building early Wednesday night after the brothers had been wrangling and quarreling for some time. The New York brother is said to have demanded money which the Pittsburg brother declined to advance.

Fatally Hurt in Auto Race.

Savannah, Ga., Nov. 19.—Joseph Grimes, a mechanic, lies at the point of death from injuries received when a Buick racing car, driven by Robert Hurman, ran into a tree alongside the automobile race course Wednesday.

DR. RUPERT BLUE, QUARANTINE OFFICER AT SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., WHO IS ACTIVELY IN CHARGE OF THE COAST FIGHT AGAINST THE PLAGUE.

San Francisco—So much discussion has arisen over the plague conditions on the coast, that a special correspondent of this paper on the coast called upon Dr. Rupert Blue, quarantine officer at San Francisco, to see what the facts were. Dr. Blue gave some astonishing figures which show that the condition is not nearly so serious as has been generally supposed.

He states that in San Francisco not a case of the plague among human beings has occurred since January 30, 1908. From May, 1907, to January 30, 1908, 153 human cases were reported with 77 deaths.

Approximately 450 plague rats have been found. These were very numerous until March, 1908. There was one infected rat in April, one in May, one in June and one on July 28. From that time until October 21 no infected rats were found. One infected rat was found on October 21 and one on October 23, 1908. The rats found in April, May, June and July all came from one place. The two rats found in October were taken about one and one-half blocks from this focus, so that it may be said that there has only been one focus of plague in San Francisco since last April.

The city of San Francisco has undergone a very thorough cleaning at the hands of the United States public health and marine hospital service and was never in such a cleanly condition as at present. The work is still being carried forward, the United States government spending about $20,000 per month. There were 13 human cases, with eight deaths, in Oakland. Active measures are being taken in Los Angeles by the federal and local health authorities, and no trouble is expected from this source. The infection has been discovered among the ground squirrels in Contra Costa county. The one case which occurred in Los Angeles was infected from the bite of a ground squirrel. The fact that the infection is among the squirrels is the most serious aspect of the question, and may require heroic eradication measures.

The entire campaign has been under the direction of the United States public health and marine hospital service, of which Gen. Walter Wyman is the head. The state board of health deserves the very greatest praise for its co-operation in this campaign. In San Francisco the city government and the city board of health did splendid work with the assistance of the citizens' health committee, which was organized for the specific purpose of educating the people and combating the disease. The city of Oakland also did good work.

It has long been recognized that the federal health service was best fitted for handling problems of this kind, and this campaign has simply demonstrated again that it is not only safe, but necessary, to delegate this work to the United States public health and marine hospital service.

Danderine

Grows Hair

and we can

PROVE IT!

The Great DANDERINE Never Fails to Produce the Desired Results.

It cleanses and invigorates the hair glands and tissues of the scalp, resulting in a continuous and increasing growth of the hair.

Letters of praise are continually coming in from nearly all parts of the country stating that Danderine has renewed the growth of hair in cases that were considered absolutely hopeless. A lady from Brooklyn writes: "After a short trial my hair stopped falling, and I now have a lovely head of hair, very heavy and over one and a quarter's size long."

Danderine stimulates the scalp, makes it healthy and keeps it so. It is the greatest scalp invigorator known. It is a wholesome medicine for both the hair and scalp. Even a small bottle of it will put more genuine life in your hair than a gallon of any other hair tonic ever made. It shows results from the very start.

Now on sale at every drug and toilet store in the land. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00

Free To show how quickly Danderine restores the hair will send a large sample free by return mail to anyone who sends this free coupon to the Danderine Co., Chicago, with their name and address and two in either or stamps to pay postage.

THE EFFECT

of well lighted show windows, on the public, is surprising. They judge the interior of the store by them. Just as a dark show window attracts no attention, a well lighted one will make many a sale after your doors are locked and business suspended for the day. The amount expended in lighting them is in this way soon made up, as no form of advertising pays as well as light. Ask about our $1.63 per month proposition.

MASQUE BALL UNDER AUSPICES OF W. O. W.

Was Enjoyed by Nearly a Hundred Couples at Assembly Hall Last Evening.

Nearly 100 couples attended the second annual masquerade ball given under W. O. W. auspices at Assembly hall last evening and more than the usual number of picturesque and amusing "characters" were in evidence. Knott & Hatch's orchestra provided the inspiration and there were fifty couples in the grand march. The 35 prizes went to Miss Edna Lawrence and Harry Hecner; the 32 prizes to William Allen and Miss Mary Manning; and the one dollar trophies to Miss Schiller and B. R. Winslow.

ENJOYED SUPPER AND FINE ENTERTAINMENT

Large Crowd Gathered at the Congregational Church Parlor Last Evening.

An unusually large crowd was attracted last evening to the Congregational church parlor where a delicious chicken supper was served and a highly interesting illustrated lecture was given by Rev. H. C. Denison on "Beautiful Japan." There was also a very enjoyable organ recital by Owen Thomas.

ADOPT RESOLUTIONS REGARDING REPORTS

Green County Officers to Make Report to the Board Within Three Days of Session.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
The county board has adopted a resolution compelling every county officer to make a report to the county board within the first three days of its annual session next year. A resolution to this effect was passed last year, but those officers not desiring to make out a report were not pressed because a new system of accounting was instituted here last year and it was thought best to let them work out the details.

The delinquent tax roll of Green county amounts to $316, according to the report of County Treasurer Geo. E. Thorp to the county board.

Adam Schmidt has purchased the store building of the Bolander heirs for $7,000. The building is located on the south side of the square and is one of the best structures of its kind in the city. Mr. Schmidt secures possession on Jan. 1, but he will not move his boot and shoe stock into it for a month or so afterward.

C. L. Chambers, a grocer, occupies the building at present.

The two rear coaches of the evening westbound passenger train on the Milwaukee road were derailed by a split switch in the west end of the local yards. The wreck was caused by a broken brake spring which was dragging on the ground and threw open the switch when it struck the frog. One of the cars was turned nearly on its side while the other remained upright. The lights in both coaches went out and the women passengers were thrown into a panic. A wrecker was sent out from Milwaukee and the track was cleared in seven hours. Conductor Thomas Leachy of Janesville was in charge of the passenger train. Following the wreck the fore part of the train proceeded west to Mineral Point, the passengers being transferred to the smoker and baggage car.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM RUNAWAY TEAM

Will Zick Is Run Over by Two Wagons When Thrown Out of His Wagon.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Clinton, Nov. 18.—Will Zick on the Adams farm north of town, had a very narrow escape from a serious injury Monday. He hitched a team to his wagon and then led another wagon on behind that and started over to his neighbor's to help him shred corn. On the way over his team became frightened and ran away, throwing Zick out and three wheels of the wagon ran over his leg, bruising the member quite badly. Dr. Thomas was called and attended the wounds. At present he is getting along nicely.

L. L. Gile came down from Madison Friday evening on his way to Chicago, stopping over night to call on old friends and neighbors. He met his sister, Mrs. A. C. Rice, in Chicago, who is on her way from Boston to Old Mexico where she and her husband have been missionaries to Mexico for twenty-two years.

Officer Baldwin took the law into his own hands Saturday morning and took one of young ladies to task for running the streets. He shook her soundly, slapped her and sent her home in a hurry.

Mrs. M. B. Luman left Tuesday for Brookfield, Wis., to spend the winter. Mrs. Helen Sprague, daughter of Dr. J. H. Crandall, arrived here Saturday evening to spend the winter with her father and brother.

Miss Edna Conley is now employed in Harvard, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kennerly are contemplating a trip to Mexico, New Mexico to visit their son Geo. L. Kennerly, who has the chair of chemistry in the state school of mines at that place.

Master Roger Hamilton, son of J. A. Hamilton, is on the sick list.

Editor F. R. Holmer was in Rockford last Thursday on combined business and curiosity.

O. L. Woodward was in Janesville and Beloit Tuesday.

Rev. and Mrs. Clyde McGee were in Rockford Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Winegar attended the Wilcox wedding in Janesville Tuesday.

Mr. Wm. Tabba of Elkhorn visited relatives and friends here from Saturday evening to Tuesday evening.

EMOTIONAL TRAGEDY AT MYERS THEATRE

"Coro, the Creole" Presented Last Evening by Miss Grace Hayward and Company.

Last night at the Myers theatre Grace Hayward and company appeared in "Coro, the Creole" and pleased a good sized audience. The play opens on a quarrel between Coro and her affianced husband. Driven to madness by her supposed fickleness her lover shoots her. Dismayed, the former lover, is sent to the galley and Coro opens a gambling house in Paris. On his being freed Darnel after a long struggle recovers his former position in life and wedd the daughter of Count de Rivers. The count later introduces Darnel to Coro's home and she recognizes him. Angered because he seizes her love Coro informs the prefect of the police that Darnel is an escaped convict and he is arrested to be sent back to the galley. The Creole, who has gone mad from brooding over what she has done, after a strong scene in the last act recovers her reason and as she is dying gives Darnel the pardon she has secured.

Grace Hayward portrayed the leading part extremely well, and delineated the ill, nervous, revengeful Creole in a very intelligent manner. The stronger scenes were somewhat weakened by the support given Miss Hayward.

The vaudeville specialties between acts were clever and amusing. This evening a diamond ring will be given to the holder of the lucky number and it will also be an amateur night.

LITCHFIELD TRIO GIVE ENTERTAINMENT

Will Give Next Number of the Fulton Lecture Course on Nov. 26th.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Fulton, Nov. 18.—The next number of the Fulton lecture course will be on Saturday evening, Nov. 26th, in the Fulton church. The Litchfield Trio will be the entertainers for the evening and will present a very fine concert. Mr. Litchfield is a humorist and also reciter. Mrs. Litchfield has had years of experience on the platform and is a fine violinist, while Miss Abbie Litchfield, their daughter, plays at the piano and gives a true-to-life impersonation of "Amanda Green" in the comedy "Down at Brook Farm," which will take up the latter half of the entertainment.

Miss Josephine Brown is home for a few days.

Word comes from Walkerville, Ont., that a baby girl came to brighten the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Bizar, last Sunday night.

Mrs. Sarah Van Skok left for Chicago Thursday, where she will spend the winter. Miss Leah Brown was home from Janesville the latter part of the week. Mr. and Mrs. Bros. will have oysters for your Thanksgiving dinner.

Oscar Peterson is again working for Ed. Kourman in Edgerton.

The town board of the town of Fulton will meet at the clerk's office Tuesday, Dec. 1st, to audit and settle all bills against the town of Fulton for the past year.

Mrs. Marie Neidhard will spend Thanksgiving with relatives in Chicago.

Rev. W. F. Price will conduct the church services in Bruce, Wis., Sunday.

FOUR GENERATIONS AT FAMILY REUNION

Gathering Was Held at Home of Grand Daughter in Ottumwa, Illinois.

Still hale and hearty at the age of eighty one, Mrs. Pamela A. Millard of Hanover has just enjoyed the unique distinction of being the head of a family reunion of four generations. The gathering was held at the residence of Mrs. Millard's granddaughter, Mrs. A. C. McDonald, grand daughter Mrs. A. C. McDonald, grand-grandson G. Donald Pickett constituting the four generations present.

Mrs. Millard, then Pamela Crouch came from New York with her family in 1844 and settled near Hanover. Four years after coming to Wisconsin she was united in marriage to J. C. Millard and since that time she has always resided on the same farm near Hanover and until recently has managed it herself.

Of a family of nine children, eight are still living. They are William Millard, a Rock Island engineer, Mrs. A. C. McDonald of Ottumwa, Ill., Mrs. Anna Millard of Janesville, Charles and Frank Millard of Hanover, Mrs. Abbie McKay of Oakland, Cal., Mrs. Clara Holloway of Janesville and James Millard of Hanover.

Mrs. Millard, who came to Janesville when it was composed of only four buildings, still takes an interest in public affairs and is very active in church work. It is especially gratifying to her that she has been able to see her family growing up and to see her own children having up to them given it her personal supervision.

AT HUDSON SANITARIUM

Doctors said case was hopeless. Sent home in South Dakota.

On October 15, 1907, I was discharged from the sanitarium, and told to go home. That my case was hopeless; that I could not be cured, and that I would never regain my eyesight which was at that time nearly gone. Am writing this today to Dr. Rea, who cured me. I wrote him from Boyeville, Wis., on May 18th, 1908. I told him my name is William Olson, and that my name is in his office case book. I told him that my eyes were well; that I have stopped taking his medicine, and don't know that I will need any more, though it may be that I will take a little more later on, but that I will see him some time or other at his office, as I pass through the city. People who are interested in my case, can write me at my home, William Olson, Clear Lake, S. D., and it will be forwarded to me.

Wenzel Zila, LaSueur Center, Minn.; cured of bronchitis and chronic catarrh of the stomach.
Miss Selma Carlstrom, Detroit, Minn.; writes: "Your medicine has done me lots of good; my face is clear, and I am feeling better than I have felt for years. I don't think I need any more treatment."
Francis M. Ward, an old man of 81 years of Boyeville, Minn.; cured of bladder trouble and kidney trouble of ten years' standing. Had treated with some of the best doctors in this country absolutely without benefit. Cured quickly by Dr. Rea.
Christ Scharrn, Kempton, N. D.; says he would not take $700.00 for what Dr. Rea did for him in one month's treatment. Would not believe that could be cured of phos so quickly. Dr. Rea treated and cured him by injection.
Henry Wischmidt, Sleepy Eye, Minn.; cured of a severe case of protruding eyes with the hypodermic injection method. No cutting.
Nick Saenem, Fredonia, Wis.; cured of cancer of long standing.
Mrs. Mary Schurt, West Bend, Wis.; cured of ulcerated catarrh of the stomach.
Fred Blackburn, Union Grove, Wis.; cured of asthma and kidney trouble.
George Shellhouse, Menomonie, Wis.; cured of appendicitis.
Mrs. Douglas McIntyre, Wheeler, Wis.; cured of ulcerated sore throat, many years standing.
Felix Klappertich, St. Cloud, Wis.; cured of gastric ulcer of the stomach.
Ernest Lohm, Hildesheim, Wis.; cured of gastric ulcer of the stomach.
The many patients of Dr. Rea will be glad to know that he has arranged his next professional visit, and will visit the town as stated below.
This coming of Dr. Rea will enable his many patients to consult this eminent specialist close to their homes. Consultation and examination to those interested, $1.00.
Kiel, Wis., Commercial Hotel, Thursday, November 19, from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m.
Whitewater, Wis., Walworth Hotel, Friday, November 20.
Janesville, Wis., Myers Hotel, Saturday, November 21.

J. A. Naylor's five-year-old daughter, Jackson, Minn.; cured of stomach trouble and cramps after having treated for two years without results with other doctors. Cured by Dr. Rea and has never had a symptom since.
Miss Marie Kostka, Hildesheim, Minn.; operated on and cured of cross eyes in ten minutes.
Easmus Jorgenson, boy, age seven, Jackson, Minn.; cured of bronchitis and stomach trouble. Had tried many doctors.

Chapter 22

SELVYN had gone to New York with Gerald "for a few days," as he expressed it, but it was now the first week in October, and he had not yet returned to Silverside.

A brief note to Nina thanking her for having had him at Silverside and speaking vaguely of some business matters which might detain him indefinitely; a brief note to Ellen regretting his inability to return for the present, were all the communications they had from him except news brought by Austin, who came down from town every Friday.

A long letter to him from Nina still remained unanswered. Austin had seen him only once in town, Lansing, now back in New York, wrote a postscript in a letter to Drina, asking for Selvyn's new address, the first indication anybody had that he had given up his lodgings on Lexington avenue.

Ellen had not written him. His sudden leave taking nearly a month ago had so astounded her that she could not believe he meant to be gone more than a day or two. Then came his note, written at the Patrons' club, very brief, curtly stated and formal, with a strange tone of finality through it, as though he were taking perfunctory leave of people who had come temporarily into his life and as though the chances were against even of his ever seeing them again.

The girl was not hurt as yet; she remained merely confused, incredulous, uncomprehending.

It was possible now to ride cross country, and Nina, who was always in terror of an added ounce to her perfect figure, rode every day with Ellen, and Austin, on a big hunter, joined them two days in the week.

have— But I am not depressed. What appeals to me is the spectacle of the boy acting with conviction on his own initiative. Of course he can, if he chooses, begin ever after again and come in with me, or if I am satisfied that he has any ability, he can set up some sort of real estate office on his own hook."

Nina hesitated, another idea intruding. "Austin, the Orchid boy, the one in Harvard, proposed to Ellen, the little idiot! She told me. Thank goodness, she still does tell me things! Also the younger and clubber Druggmore youth has offered himself after a killing proper interview with me. I thought it might amuse you to hear of it."

"It might amuse me more if Ellen would get busy and bring Philip into camp," observed her husband.

"Do you know," said Nina, "that I believe he is in love with her?"

"Then why doesn't?"

"I don't know. I was sure—I am sure now—that the girl cares more for him than for anybody. And yet—and yet I don't believe she is actually in love with him."

After a moment Nina's face grew grave, and she bent forward.

"Altogether, I. Nobody seems to know what the matter is. Nobody has seen her. But she's at Clifton, with a couple of nurses, and I have heard rumors that she is very ill indeed. People go to Clifton for shattered nerves, you know. There is a mental trouble in her family. You have heard of it as well as I. You know her father died of it."

"The usual defense in criminal cases," observed Austin, flicking his cigarette end into the grate. "I'm sorry, dear, that Alice has the jumps. I hope she'll get over 'em. But as for pretending I've any use for her, I can't stand, don't and won't. She spoiled life for the best man I know. She kicked his reputation into a cocked hat, and he, with his chivalrous Selvyn conscience, let her do it. I did like her once. I don't like her now, and that's natural, and it winds up the matter."

Ruthven was at that very moment seated in a private card room at the Stuyvesant club with Sanford Orchid, George Fane and Bradley Harmon, and the game had been bridge, as usual, and had gone very heavily against him.

Several things had gone against Mr. Ruthven recently. For one thing, he was beginning to realize that he had made a vast mistake in mixing himself up in any transactions with Neergard.

Dyspepsia

and Indigestion are very quickly stopped when your food begins to digest. Kodol digests all you eat.

Of course nothing goes right when your stomach is all wrong. Your system is overloaded in spots and underfed in others. It requires all your attention. Your head is heavy. Maybe it aches. You feel dull. You don't really care if you succeed or not and you mostly don't.

What you need is Kodol; you have dyspepsia. It is useless to try to make the stomach do what it can't. Might as well crank your auto after the gasoline is burned out. Far more sensible to whip a tired horse. He will go till he drops. The stomach won't. It stops when it is tired and makes you a lot of trouble.

Maybe you don't weary it with too much work. Perhaps it has a notion of kicking about certain kinds of food. Fat perhaps. Starch most likely. Albumen possibly.

Kodol digests all you eat. Funny thing. Almost all digestants are made to digest albumen only. Seem to forget all about fats, phosphates, starch and the rest. Acid makes as much trouble as anything. Why not make a digestant that will do more?

It was hard work to get Kodol right. Unless it could be made to digest any food anywhere in the digestive tract we did not want to make Kodol.

Unless it could do more than any digestor known—even Nature—we didn't want to offer Kodol.

Hard scientific work did it. Made Kodol. Made Kodol so perfect that we can guarantee it. We claim that Kodol will do all the work of a healthy digestive apparatus. That it digests any food anywhere, at once and entirely. It does more than Nature because she is limited in place—Kodol isn't.

There is no halfway work about Kodol. It is a tonic without being a stimulant. It quiets without containing a bit of narcotic.

It rests and Nature cures. It works partly by increasing the secretion and flow of the digestive juices, partly by actually preparing undigested food for proper natural assimilation. But it does all the work. It does not stop with a single class of foods in a certain place. It takes them anywhere. It waits till it finds its work and then does it.

Don't say again that you can't eat everything. It is nothing to be proud of. It means that you have abused your stomach knowingly and ignorantly. That you are not willing to help Nature repair the damage. That you'd rather starve yourself by depriving your system of some variety of nourishment it needs. That is what dieting really means—half starvation.

With Kodol at hand, such treatment is worse than useless. It is criminally careless. The way to gain digestive strength is to help the digestive apparatus, not to quit using it.

Try Kodol. You will begin to believe in it as soon as you swallow it. You will feel it working at once. It loses no time. The wonder will be why you waited.

Our Guarantee. Go to your druggist today and get a dollar bottle. Then after you have used the entire contents of the bottle if you can honestly say that it has not done you any good, return the bottle to the druggist and he will refund your money. We will then repay the druggist. This offer applies to the large bottle and to but one in a family. Do not hesitate. Every druggist knows our guarantee is good.

The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle. Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

A Square Deal

Is assured when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are printed on the bottle-wrappers and their formulas are attached under each as being complete and correct. You know just what you are paying for and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. While potent and effective, they are perfectly harmless. As to the most delicate women and children, not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better reason is given for not accepting and preserving the medicinal principles used in them. The agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing demulcent.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and kindred derangements of the stomach, liver and bowels.

Healing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes of the throat, nose, nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy if its use be persevered in. In Chronic Catarrh of the Nasal passages, it is by the use of this "Golden Medical Discovery" while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Haze's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchitis, throat and lung affections, except consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, hang-on coughs caused by irritation and constriction of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Discovery" is not so good for acute coughs arising from sudden colds, nor must it be expected to cure consumption in its advanced stages—no medicine will do that—but for all the chronic, chronic coughs, which, if neglected or badly treated, lead up to consumption, it is the best medicine that can be taken.

is for coughs and colds as well as for consumption. It's easy for Scott's Emulsion to cure a cold or cough and it does it better than anything else because it builds up and strengthens at the same time.

Don't wait until you get Consumption or Bronchitis. Get Scott's.

OFFICIAL NOTICE.
Street Assessment Notice.
Published by the authority of the common council of the city of Janesville.

Office of the City Clerk, Janesville, Wis., Nov. 19th, 1908.
To whom it may concern:
Notice is hereby given that the final report of the Street Assessment committee, acting as a board of public works, on improving Cherry street from Pleasant street to Western avenue in the Fourth Ward by curbing and otherwise improved at the expense of the real estate to be benefited thereby, was filed in my office on the 28th day of October, 1908, and that the common council of the city of Janesville, at a regular meeting thereof, to be held in the council chambers in said city on the 23rd day of November, 1908, will consider said report and hear all objections which may be made thereto, and determine what portion of the cost of the improvement, if any, shall be paid by the city at large.
